DATA AS OF

01 · READ THIS FIRST

Before you walk into a model home.

This guide is a starting point, not a price sheet or a complete list of new construction in Lane County. Builders change pricing, incentives, and release schedules constantly. Use it to shortlist — then let me confirm today's numbers.

01 The sales rep works for the builder.

The person in the model home is paid to get the best outcome for the builder — their contract, their lender, their timeline. You deserve someone at the table whose only job is you.

02 Register me before your first visit.

Many builders require a buyer's broker to be registered at — or before — your first visit or online sign-up. If you visit or sign up on your own first, you may not be able to have your own broker represent you on that home. Text me before you go and I'll handle registration.

03 The advertised price is only part of the deal.

Builders may offer closing-cost credits, rate buydowns, upgrade packages, or lot premiums, and these change often. Incentives tied to a builder's affiliated lender are optional — compare them against an outside lender before deciding.

08 · BEFORE YOU SIGN

Six moves before you sign.

Builder contracts are written by the builder. Here's what I walk every buyer through first.

01

Get an outside pre-approval, too.

If a builder offers an incentive for using its lender, an independent quote lets you compare the true cost. The choice of lender is yours.

02

Ask what's included vs. upgraded.

Model homes are dressed in upgrades. Get the standard-features sheet for the exact home you're pricing.

03

Price the lot, not just the plan.

Lot premiums, orientation, and what the lot backs up to change both value and resale.

04

Hire your own inspector — twice.

New doesn't mean flawless. Pre-drywall and final inspections catch what a busy build schedule misses.

05

Read the HOA documents early.

Dues, fences, parking, RV storage, rentals — know them before you sign.

06

Understand the warranty and timeline.

Know who to call, what's covered, and what happens if the completion date slips.

Register with me before touring and you get

→ Exact homesite addresses

→ Current incentives confirmed

→ Lender offer comparison

→ A one-day tour plan

09 · LET'S FIND YOURS

Your home has a story too.

Tell me your budget, must-haves, and timeline. I'll register you with the builders, pull today's incentives, and plan your tour — on your side of the table.
